DARRYL JONES

- Enthusiastic author, proven media performer
- Darryl Jones takes wildlife lovers on the world tour of a lifetime
- Entertaining and informative, with important insights into how humans connect with the natural world

Can our interactions with wildlife help answer life's big questions?

In Be(wilder), acclaimed urban ecologist Darryl Jones explores how people around the world interact with wildlife. He spends time with bearded pigs in Borneo, rock ptarmigans in the Arctic, birdwatchers in Iowa and conservationist farmers in Australia's Snowy Mountains.

Along the way, Jones asks some big questions. Is it possible for farming and conservation to work together? How can urban landscapes be redesigned to enhance biodiversity? What happens when a local community turns centuries of traditional land use over to wildlife? And can birdwatching help save the planet?

About the author:

Darryl Jones is a Professor of Ecology at Griffith University in Brisbane, where for over 30 years he has been investigating the many ways that people and wildlife interact. His books include The Birds at My Table (co-published with Cornell University Press), Feeding the Birds at Your Table, Curlews on Vulture Street and Getting to Know the Birds in Your Neighbourhood (all from NewSouth).

‘In a braiding so skilled you can’t see it, Susan Wyndham takes us from Harrower’s life into her work and her friendships, and then back into her work and life. This is a deceptively simple, beautifully detailed, psychologically acute portrait worthy of its subject.’ – Anna Funder

ELIZABETH HARROWER

The woman in the watch tower

SUSAN WYNDHAM

- The definitive biography of leading Australian writer Elizabeth Harrower, drawing on personal letters and photographs, plus her numerous interviews and conversations with Susan Wyndham
- A revealing behind-the-scenes look at mid-century Australian literary circles and Harrower’s friendships with Patrick White, Cynthia Nolan, Christina Stead and Shirley Hazzard
- Renewed interest in Harrower’s work has led to new generations of ardent fans, including British actor Ben Whishaw, who said of The Long Prospect: ‘something in that book obsessed me’

Elizabeth Harrower wrote some of the most intense, original and highly regarded psychological fiction of the twentieth century. Then she abruptly stopped writing in the 1970s and became one of the most puzzling mysteries of Australian literature. Why didn’t she continue? Harrower gave elusive answers to friends and interviewers, and only since her death in 2020 has a deeper search been possible.

When Harrower’s four novels were brought back into print between 2012 and 2014, followed by a novel she had withdrawn from her publisher in 1971 and a collection of her short stories, a renaissance of admiration followed.

In this engrossing biography, Susan Wyndham grapples with the questions that remained unanswered, the dynamics of Harrower’s circles of famous friends, and her remarkable books and their timeless probing of the human spirit.

About the author:

Mark Johnston is one of the foremost authorities on the Australian Army in World War II. As the author of a dozen books on Australian soldiers, he is well qualified to write about their heroic actions in every campaign and battle of the Second World War. With NewSouth he has published An Australian Band of Brothers and Derrick VC in His Own Words.

AUSTRALIAN HEROES OF WORLD WAR II

Remarkable stories of battlefield courage

MARK JOHNSTON

- Mark Johnston, named by Wartime magazine as ‘the leading historian on the experience of Australian soldiers during the [Second World] War’ is also the author of the successful An Australian Band of Brothers (NewSouth, 2018) and Derrick VC in His Own Words (April, 2021)
- Brings together the stories of over 700 brave soldiers from those celebrated for their courage by the Victoria Cross to others that were never acknowledged across all battles of World War II that Australian soldiers fought in
- An action-packed page turner, Australian Heroes of World War II shines a new light on the individuals that made a big impact in both defeating enemy troops and saving lives

When Australians defended against Rommel’s tanks at Tobruk and Alamein, tackled paratroopers landing among them on Crete, attacked French Foreign Legionnaires in Syrian forts, held off Japanese tanks in Malaya, fought hand-to-hand on the Kokoda Track, and took on well-hidden and tenacious Japanese soldiers in countless grim jungle locations, brave individuals risked everything to bring victory.

Australian soldiers performed acts of remarkable bravery in the roles of stretcher-bearers and snipers, in victories and defeats, and in desert and jungle. Men like the truck driver who took on 22 Japanese fighters with his fists and Owen gun and won. Such astonishing deeds were often rewarded with medals, but many brave deeds went unrecognised, and whether acknowledged or not, the heroes often paid a heavy price for their courageous acts, in the form of physical injury, psychological trauma or death.

In Australian Heroes of World War II, leading Australian military historian Mark Johnston shines a new light on the the courage of individual soldiers across every battle in which Australians fought in World War II.

UNFINISHED REVOLUTION

The feminist fightback

VIRGINIA HAUSSEGGER

- Written with personal insight and savvy political analysis, award-winning journalist Virginia Haussegger brings together her 30-plus years of expertise as a reporter on feminism and women's issues from across the globe
- Unfinished Revolution* draws on extensive interviews with leading figures in politics and media, including Elizabeth Reid, Louise Milligan and Chanel Contos
- While focusing on the successes and challenges of feminist action in Australia, Unfinished Revolution also brings in a global context on women's issues from 1975 to now

In 1975 the fight was alive. It was the year the United Nations declared 'International Women's Year' as a marker of progress and aspiration. Fifty years on, award-winning journalist Virginia Haussegger shines a light on the feminist revolution in Australia, capturing its spirited momentum and a fatigued lag.

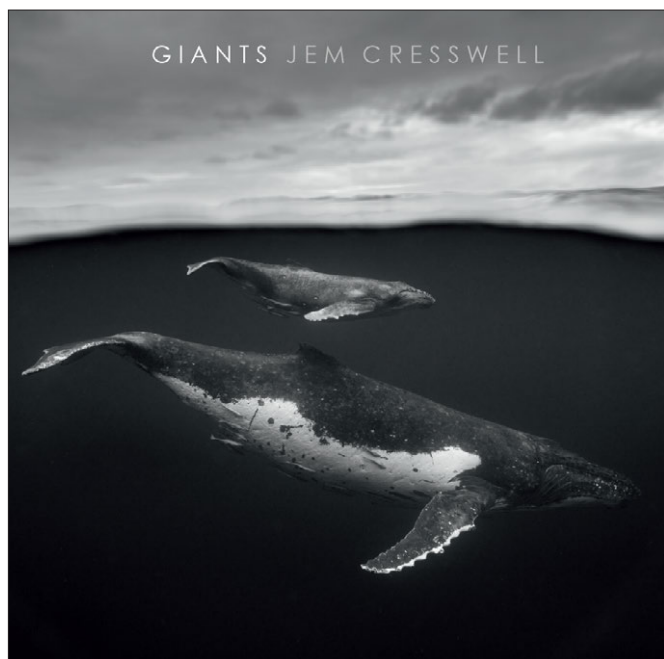

Unfinished Revolution tells a fresh story of feminist action in this country, from the largest women's protest rally – March4Justice in 2021 – to the dynamic Australian Women's Liberation Movement of the 1970s.

With a focus on gender and power in politics and the media, from national consciousness raising to shifting media narratives, this book is an exploration of what feminist change looks like. Unfinished Revolution is a clarion call to reignite the feminist fightback.

About the author:

Virginia Haussegger AM is an award-winning journalist and gender equity advocate. Her extensive 30-year media career spans reporting around the globe for primetime current affairs programs on Channel 7, the 9 Network and ABC TV. Virginia anchored ABC's flagship TV News in Canberra from 2001–2016. She was the 2019 ACT Australian of the Year. Her first book was Wonder Woman: The myth of 'having it all' (2005).

JEM CRESSWELL

- Stunning photography from a celebrated filmmaker and photographer
- Explores the awe-inspiring behaviour of humpback whales
- The author shares the incredible experience of swimming with and photographing humpback whales

A photographic celebration of one of nature's most majestic creatures.

Over a five-year period, photographer and filmmaker Jem Cresswell took more than 11 000 images of one of nature's largest mammals – the humpback whale – in Tongan waters.

In Giants, Cresswell selects the most striking of these images to document the awe-inspiring behaviours of the humpback whale in a powerful combination of photography and storytelling.

Cresswell's body of work offers an intimate glimpse into the lives of these 'gentle giants' as they complete their annual migration to Tonga.

NEWCASTLE

The lives and times of a city

SCOTT BEVAN

- The first full biography of steel city turned tourist destination and creative hub, Newcastle
- Well-known journalist Scott Bevan has written bestselling books on Sydney Harbour and the Hunter region, now he turns his focus to his hometown
- Bevan is a natural for publicity – there will be a full promotional campaign

Newcastle finds itself on shifting ground. But it's not an earthquake, or subsidence due to an old mine. It's perception that's shifting.

Not only is Newcastle rapidly changing, but so are people's views of the city. People are 'discovering' Newcastle. Or, more pointedly, they are seeing Newcastle for what it is.

In Newcastle Scott Bevan examines the character and the soul of the city he grew up in, its past and where it's likely to head. He traverses from early contact between the Awabakal people and missionary Lancelot Threlkeld, Newcastle's convict and steel city past, its famous children (from Silverchair to William Dobell) and the city's role as the world's largest coal export port, to its recent blossoming as a tourist destination and creative hub.

JAMES FAIRFAX

Portrait of a collector in eleven objects
ALEXANDER EDWARD GILLY

- Now as a jacketed paperback!
- A beautifully written account of one of Australia's greatest philanthropists, collectors and champions of Australian art
- A fascinating window into the life of an art collector, the high-profile Fairfax family and a wealthy Sydney social circle
- Colour plates highlight the breadth of James Fairfax's collection, many of which were donated to the Art Gallery of NSW after his death

James Fairfax was one of the nation's greatest philanthropists, collectors and champions of Australian art. Chairman of what was then known as John Fairfax Ltd, he put together one of the country's most important collections of European Old Masters, and was a generous benefactor to the Art Gallery of New South Wales in Sydney.

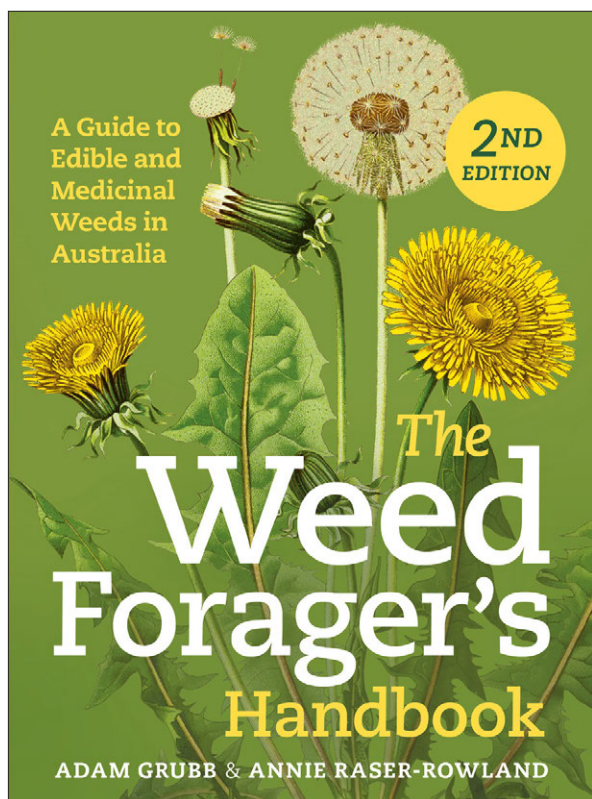

In this evocative biography his nephew, Alexander Gilly, pieces together Fairfax's life through the prism of his art collection. Through a long-case clock built by Fairfax's grandfather and given to his parents as a wedding gift, a painting by Rubens, a sculpture by Robert Klippel, a mural created for his country home by Donald Friend and other treasured objects, Gilly reveals the complex private and public lives of a man at the centre of a media dynasty.

‘James Fairfax lives on in his gifts to the nation. In this beautifully written, emotionally rich, erudite yet intimate book, Alexander Gilly ensures that his life is a gift that keeps on giving. With so many objects to choose from in James Fairfax's extraordinary collection, Alexander Gilly selected eleven as guides to a reserved and proper man's public and private life. He locates them brilliantly to explore privilege, conflict and loss. In the process, and with access to remarkable private letters, he tells a story of a family, an imploding newspaper empire and a changing nation. Succession has nothing on this.’ – Julianne Schultz

‘A beautifully written biography, dramatic, sensitive and full of heart. Gilly illuminates not only the life of one of Australia's most interesting figures but an entire era. The pacing is terrific and the structure original – you're captivated from the first page, deeply moved by the last.’ – Sebastian Sme

‘In an astute, intimate portrait of his uncle, Alexander Gilly animates the mismatched members of an Australian media dynasty.’ – Susan Wyndham

‘For the gardener tired of joyless weeding, Adam and Annie open our eyes to the fact that the problem can indeed be the solution.’ – David Holmgren, co-originator of the permaculture concept

THE WEED FORAGER'S HANDBOOK

CONFESSIONS OF A MINOR POET

PHIL BROWN

- A true insight into Australian print media and the author’s journey to becoming a much loved arts journalist
- Entertaining, totally honest and funny story of the author’s desire to break into the literary scene
- Appearances and opening day launch at the Brisbane Writers Festival
- National publicity and media campaign

Hilarious, heartfelt and revealing.

Phil Brown tells all (well almost all) in this rollicking account of his career in literature and journalism from The Morning Bulletin in Rockhampton to Melbourne’s Sunday Age and back to The Courier-Mail in Brisbane. He shares his challenges as a young surfer foolishly yearning to be a poet and his personal struggles on the road to becoming a writer with a fluctuating passion for poetry and a top drawer full of rejection slips. There are the seminal friendships with poets Bruce Dawe and Les Murray and a cavalcade of characters from the world of arts and letters – Barry Humphries, Willem Dafoe, Daniel Craig, Alain de Botton, Richard E. Grant and a cavalcade of characters he meets (and interviews) along the way, for better and occasionally, worse.

Confessions of a Minor Poet is a hugely entertaining memoir that shows us all how the life of a writer can be frustrating, even enraging but ultimately life-enriching. This is a vital, wild and affectionate ride across Queensland, New South Wales, and Victoria, from the seventies to now.

DON'T ASK THE TREES FOR THEIR NAMES

Stories of Leaving and Becoming

EDITED BY OULA GHANNOUM, LOUBNA HAIKAL

- A powerful testament to individuality and community, Don't Ask the Trees for Their Names seeks to dismantle stereotypes in a world that too often simplifies identity

In this richly woven tapestry of stories, nine Arab women share their deeply personal journeys of migration to Australia, each reflecting on the legacies of their homelands and the complexities of forging new lives.

In their own voices, they explore the challenges of adaptation, the resilience born from adversity, moments of joy, and the enduring ties to their heritage. With unique perspectives, they examine Australian culture while confronting some of the world's most pressing political injustices through the lens of lived experience.

This compelling collection inspires us all to rise above the barriers of sexism and racism, offering an urgent and unapologetic chorus of truth.

A cohort of corporations and governments insist that geoengineering, nanotech and AI can solve our environmental crisis. But by bending nature to our will, could we break ourselves in the process?

Almost a century ago, Aldous Huxley's Brave New World imagined a society founded on a radical idea. Using eugenics and powerful pharmaceuticals, its rulers would engineer humans to fit the society they wanted to see, rather than build a society based on the needs of humans. The result was a rational and efficient system. And the crushing of the human spirit.

Today, faced with an environmental crisis, our economic and political leaders are responding in the spirit of Huxley's rulers. Rather than building societies that respect the natural world, they are developing the means to remake nature itself. Yet channelling the same instrumental thinking that caused this crisis will only deepen it. We must examine that future, to challenge its assumptions and propose alternatives, predicated on a different vision of nature and humans' place within it. From the nuclear industry's careless mining of uranium, through to the centuries-old traditions of some of the world's first peoples, history is layered with insights into how humans have treated the natural world, and how this can guide us forward.

Inscribed in the ecological crisis is a mandate for a radical rethink. Cogent, insightful and bold, Brave New Wild rises to that challenge. It will make you think about the planet, and our existence on it, in a new way.

GREAT WRITERS & THE CATS WHO OWNED THEM

SUSANNAH FULLERTON

- The relationships between much-loved writers and their cats are explored in this fun book

Throughout history, cats and writers have bonded together in a magical combination of comfort, companionship and inspiration. The famous authors featured here range from Samuel Johnson, whose cat Hodge dined on oysters, and Edward Lear, whose charismatic cat Foss was missing half his tail, to Margaret Mitchell, L. M. Montgomery and Dorothy L. Sayers, who rescued her kitten Blitz from a bomb site. Each chapter delves into the relationship between authors and the felines who condescended to share their homes and desks, revealing intriguing aspects of our much-loved writers' lives and celebrating the ways in which cats – pure-bred and moggy, large and small, graceful and eccentric – enriched the world of literature.

Including fun additional features on cats in bookshops, libraries and hotels, and illustrated with charming line drawings, this is a perfect gift for cat-lovers everywhere.

- The revelatory and urgent story of how an explosion of misogyny is driving a surge of mass and far-right violence throughout the West – from an internationally recognised extremism expert and media commentator

What two things do most mass shooters, terrorists, or violent extremists have in common? Most of us know the first: they are almost always men or boys. But the second? They are almost always virulent misogynists, homophobes, or transphobes – even if they are also motivated by racism, antisemitism, or xenophobia. The antigovernment militiamen charged with plotting to kidnap and execute Michigan governor Gretchen Whitmer used language saturated with misogyny, with one telling an FBI informant, ‘Just grab the bitch’. The men who killed scores at Virginia Tech, the Pulse nightclub, and a Maryland newsroom all had prior reports of stalking, domestic violence, or harassment of women. And in dozens of other incidents – from North America to Norway to New Zealand – an increasing number of misogynist incel (involuntary celibate) and male supremacist attackers have explicitly targeted and killed women, blaming feminism or sexual frustration with women as motivation for their attacks.

Yet, despite all evidence, the bright red thread of misogyny running through these attacks is barely acknowledged by the media or even experts – and this failing leaves us powerless to stop the violence. In Man Up, Cynthia Miller-Idriss, a leading expert on extremism, addresses this crucial oversight head-on, revealing how an epidemic of misogyny – both online and off – and a patriarchal backlash are driving an exponential rise in mass and far-right violence. She also offers essential strategies that all of us – including parents, teachers, and counsellors – can use to fight the rising tide of violence, beginning with recognising the misogyny that pervades our everyday lives.

MYTHOPEDIA

A Brief Compendium of Natural History Folklore
ADRIENNE MAYOR, ILLUSTRATED BY MICHELE M. ANGEL

- Features a cloth cover with an elaborate foil-stamped design

From acclaimed folklorist and historian Adrienne Mayor, an enchanting collection of the ancient myths that emerged out of the wonders – and disasters – of the natural world.

Mythopedia is a fun, fact-filled A-Z treasury of myths inspired by natural events. Bringing together fifty legends from antiquity to the present, this delightfully entertaining book takes you around the world to explore sunken kingdoms and lost cities, accursed mountains and treacherous terrains, and lethal lakes and singing sand dunes, explaining the historical background and latest science underlying each tale.

Drawing on her unique insights as a pioneer in the exciting new field of geomythology, Adrienne Mayor describes how cultural memories of tsunamis, volcanic disasters, and other massive geological events can reach back thousands of years as the stories were preserved, elaborated, told, and retold across generations. She shows how geomythology is expanding our understanding of our planet's history over eons, revealing the human desire to explain nature and weave imaginative stories intertwined with keen observation, rational speculation, and memory.

With captivating drawings by Michele Angel, Mythopedia is a compendium of many marvels, from the Hindu monkey god Hanuman and his army of bridge-building primates to the terrifying sand demon Shensha shen of China, the gnawing glaciers of Austria, and the vengeful fish-headed snake god Nyami Nyami of Africa's Zambezi River.

50 PLANTS THAT CHANGED THE WORLD

STEPHEN A. HARRIS

- An exciting journey through history, this beautifully illustrated new edition tells the stories of fifty plants that have been key to the development of the western world

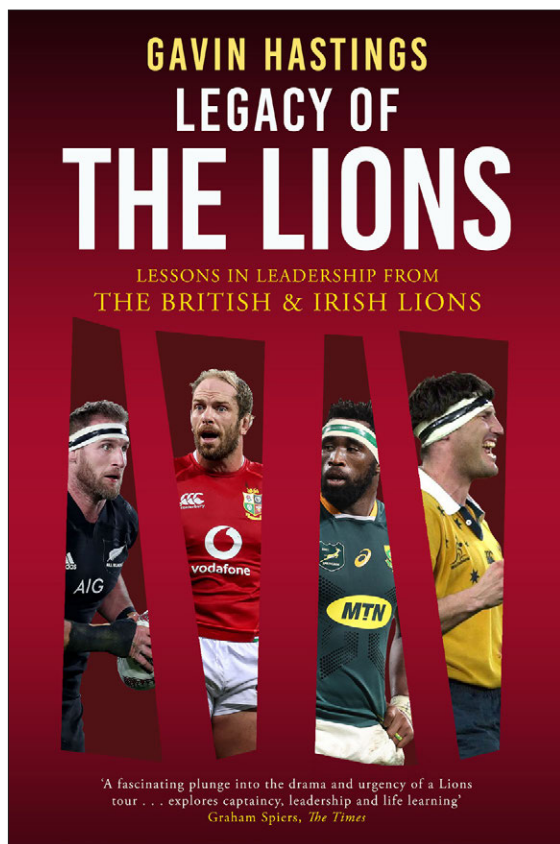

Have you ever stopped to think about how your morning cappuccino came to be? From the coffee bush that yielded the beans, to the grass for the cattle – or perhaps the soya – that produced the milk, plants are an indispensable part of our everyday life.

Beginning with some of the earliest uses of plants, Stephen Harris takes us on an exciting journey through history, identifying fifty plants that have been key to the development of the western world, discussing trade, imperialism, politics, medicine, travel and chemistry along the way. There are plants here that have changed landscapes, fomented wars and fuelled slavery. Others have been the trigger for technological advances, expanded medical knowledge or simply made our lives more pleasant. Plants have provided paper and ink, chemicals that could kill or cure, vital sustenance and stimulants. Some, such as barley, have been staples from earliest times; others, such as oil palm, are newcomers to western industry.

We remain dependent on plants for our food, our fuel and our medicines. As the wide-ranging and engaging stories in this beautifully illustrated book demonstrate, their effects on our lives continue to be profound and often unpredictable.

LEGACY OF THE LIONS

Lessons in Leadership from the British & Irish Lions

GAVIN HASTINGS, WITH PETER BURNS

- Exclusive ANZ edition! July Drop-in – available in time for the Lions tour in July
- A leadership book for business and sports markets written by a legend of Scottish and Lions rugby
- An Official Licensed Product of the British & Irish Lions
- From the publisher of the rugby classic, When Lions Roared, which has sold over 14,000 copies
- An inspiring, authoritative and fascinating insight into supreme sporting success, similar to bestsellers by Clive Woodward and Eddie Jones

A British & Irish Lions tour presents one of the greatest challenges in sport.

Rugby is a game that rewards creative expression, toil, teamwork and a never-say-die attitude. It can be joyful, vibrant and beautiful. Equally, it can brutally expose human flaws and frailties even more so in the hugely pressurised environment of a Lions tour. Every team, no matter how talented, will find itself in dark and difficult situations both on and off the field; the successful ones are those with a leadership group that can navigate these challenging moments.

In Legacy of the Lions, former Lions captain Gavin Hastings draws on his own experiences in the famous red jersey and interviews other greats of the game – including, among many others, Sam Warburton, Warren Gatland, Paul O’Connell, Brian O’Driscoll, Martin Johnson, Finlay Calder and Sir Ian McGeechan, plus a selection of their illustrious opponents, such as Kieran Read, John Smit and John Eales – to explore how to forge a successful team in this most rarefied of environments, the difficulties they each encountered and what leadership lessons they learned.

Inspiring, humorous and illuminating, Legacy of the Lions casts a unique light on leadership, team-building and elite performance and reveals a new perspective on touring with – and playing against – The British & Irish Lions in the modern era.

JAMES BOND: THE AUTHORISED BIOGRAPHY

JOHN PEARSON

- A brand new paperback edition with a new introduction celebrating the 50th anniversary of this fan-favourite book

'It was a strong face, certainly – the eyes pale grey and very cold, the mouth was hard, the dark hair – grey-streaked now – still fell in the authentic comma over the forehead.'

This is how John Pearson reacted to his first encounter with the real James Bond, an encounter probably unique in the annals of thriller writing. He went on to write the bestselling authorised biography of Ian Fleming. At the time, like most of the world he assumed that James Bond was nothing more than a character in Fleming's highly charged imagination. Then he began to have his doubts. Doubts which were reaching such a pitch that the British secret service were trying to warn him off the scent. Despite this, he finally became convinced that James Bond was not only real, but actually alive.

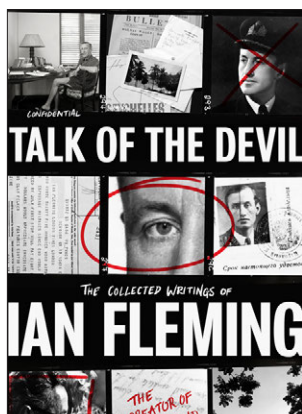

Thanks to a change in policy within the secret service he was invited to embark upon a companion volume to his life of Fleming. This resulting book must be one of the most extraordinary biographies of our times – the authorised life of a myth, the official biography of James Bond.

About the author:

John Pearson first met Ian Fleming back in 1954 when he was a young journalist, and Fleming, whose career as creator of Agent 007 had barely started, offered him a job as his assistant on the Sunday Times Atticus column. Pearson got to know Fleming well, and after his death in 1964, was commissioned to write what would become his highly successful Authorised Biography of Ian Fleming.

While researching this book, Pearson was struck by the way the character and life of James Bond overlapped with that of his creator, which gave him the idea of writing what became the parallel 'Authorised Biography' of 007. Since then Pearson wrote many successful biographies, including that of the Kray Twins, the Dukes of Devonshire, the Getty family and the Clermont Club and Lord Lucan. He died in November 2021.

TALK OF THE DEVIL

The Collected Writings of Ian Fleming
IAN FLEMING

- A collection of rarely-seen journalism and other writing by Ian Fleming, the creator of James Bond
- This is the very first trade edition of his collected non-fiction writings
- Spans Fleming's career as an author, encompassing reviews for the Sunday Times, Second World War documents, travel journalism, correspondence with Raymond Chandler and much more
- Includes newly-unearthed articles that have not been available for over half a century

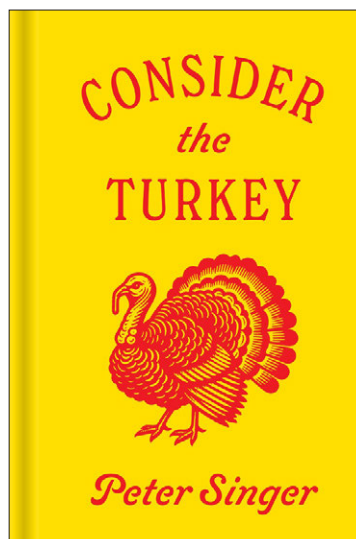

A fascinating collection of rarely seen journalism and other writings by Ian Fleming, author of the James Bond series.

Ian Fleming was best known for bringing to life the legendary character of James Bond, one of the most beloved and enduring icons of our time, but he was perhaps even more interesting than his creation. His career in Naval Intelligence and extensive travels around the world gave Fleming a keen eye and the authority to write on a wide range of topics beyond Bond's adventures.

CONSIDER THE TURKEY

PETER SINGER

- Why this holiday season is a great time to rethink the traditional turkey feast

A turkey is the centerpiece of countless Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners. Yet most of us know almost nothing about today's specially bred, commercially produced birds.

In this brief book, bestselling author Peter Singer tells their story – and, unfortunately, it's not a happy one. Along the way, he also offers a brief history of the turkey and its consumption, ridicules the annual U.S. presidential 'pardon' of a Thanksgiving turkey, and introduces us to 'a tremendously handsome, outgoing, and intelligent turkey' named Cornelius. Above all, Singer explains how we can improve our holiday tables – for turkeys, people, and the planet by – liberating ourselves from the traditional turkey feast. In its place, he encourages us to consider trying a vegetarian alternative – or just serving the side dishes that many people already enjoy far more than turkey.

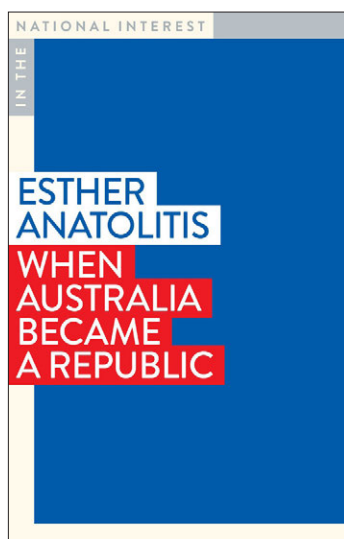

Complete with some delicious recipes for turkey-free holiday feasting, Consider the Turkey will make you reconsider what you serve for your next holiday meal – or even tomorrow's dinner.

WHEN AUSTRALIA BECAME A REPUBLIC

ESTHER ANATOLITIS

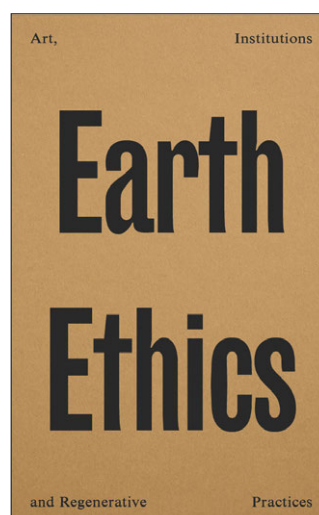

- A bold and necessary intervention in Australia's national conversation about constitutional reform, democracy, and post-colonial identity
- Written by Esther Anatolitis, a leading public intellectual, cultural strategist, and Co-Chair of the Australian Republic Movement
- Tackles the unresolved tensions between Australia's multicultural, democratic identity and its lingering constitutional ties to the British monarchy
- Ideal for civics education, university courses, and public policy debate
- Esther is a seasoned media commentator with strong national networks in arts, politics, and culture well placed for interviews, panels, and public events
- Appeals to readers interested in Australian politics, history, constitutional law, Indigenous sovereignty, and cultural identity

Australia became a republic many years ago – culturally, if not yet constitutionally. We've long stopped identifying as subjects of the British Crown, relying on UK military and trade relationships, and looking to London as our lodestar. We've long stopped allowing the UK Parliament to override our laws, accepting imported vice-regal representatives, and even hearing from our governor-general on days of national significance.

'How to Have Willpower provides a timely glimpse into ancient advice for moving toward virtue and avoiding vice. The book offers some much-needed wisdom for our modern age of excess.' – Laurie Santos, host of The Happiness Lab podcast

HOW TO HAVE WILLPOWER

An Ancient Guide to Not Giving In

PRUDENTIUS, PLUTARCH, EDITED AND TRANSLATED BY MICHAEL FONTAINE

- Lively new translations of two classical works that offer wise advice about how to resist temptation

How to Have Willpower brings together two profound ancient meditations on how to overcome pressures that encourage us to act against our own best interests – Plutarch's essay On Dysopia or How to Resist Pressure and Prudentius's poetic allegory Psychomachia or How to Slay Your Demons. Challenging the idea that humans are helpless victims of vice, these works – introduced and presented in vivid, accessible new prose translations by Michael Fontaine, with the original Latin and Greek texts on facing pages – emphasise the power of personal choice and the possibility of personal growth, as they offer insights and practical advice about resisting temptation.

In the spirit of the best ancient self-help writing, Plutarch, a pagan Greek philosopher and historian, offers a set of practical recommendations and steps we can take to resist pressure and to stop saying 'yes' against our better judgment. And in a delightfully different work, Prudentius, a Latin Christian poet, dramatises the necessity to actively fight temptation through the story of an epic battle within the human soul between fierce warrior women representing our virtues and vices.

'While making clear that modern readers should leave their notions of comfort and style at the door, How to Make a Home wonderfully illustrates the larger connection between Roman homes and ours today.' – T. Corey Brennan, author of The Fasces: A History of Ancient Rome's Most Dangerous Political Symbol

HOW TO MAKE A HOME

An Ancient Guide to Style and Comfort

EDITED AND TRANSLATED BY MARDEN FITZPATRICK NICHOLS

- An entertaining and enlightening collection of ancient Roman writings about home design and decoration

The idea that our homes can communicate professional as well as personal identities may seem as new as the work-from-home revolution. But it was second nature to the ancient Romans, for whom the home was in many ways the center of public and private life. Roman authors saw infinite practical and symbolic value in houses, and they have much to say about them. How to Make a Home presents some of the best Roman writings on houses from – buying and selling to designing and decorating.

Edited and elegantly translated by Marden Fitzpatrick Nichols, How to Make a Home gathers selections by Cicero, Vitruvius, Seneca, and others, with the original Latin or Greek on facing pages. These writings reveal the pleasures and pitfalls of the Roman practice of making one's home a cornerstone of self-expression. While the ideal home enshrined Roman virtues and could make a career, lavish building projects could lead to financial ruin and moral condemnation. These authors memorably describe such travails as deceptive staging, decorators run amok, know-it-all owners, unsupervised contractors, and buyer's remorse.

PASTA RULES

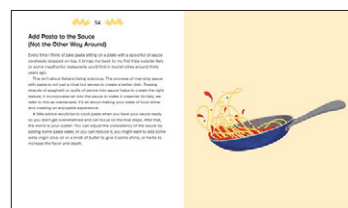

100 Ways to Shape, Sauce, and Serve
DANILO CORTELLINI

- Italian cooking and pasta in particular are evergreen subjects
- This will be the fourth book in UNSQ's Rules series, and the first in the cooking category

Pasta is universally beloved, but if you want to elevate your game, you need to know the rules. In this book of 100 tips and tricks by Danilo Cortellini, chef and former head chef of the Italian embassy in London, you will learn how to make a variety of pasta doughs and shapes, what sauces and ingredients to pair them with, and how to serve and eat them authentically.

Danilo, an Abruzzo native and pasta enthusiast himself, takes readers through each rule with thorough and straightforward guidance, so that anyone, no matter their culinary skill, can become a buona forchetta in their pasta-consuming circles.

The book is organised into five sections, each dedicated to an essential component of pasta: pasta dough, pasta shaping, pasta cooking, pasta saucing, and tips for serving. Charming and instructive illustrations are featured throughout the book, making this a great gift for the novice (or more seasoned) chef in your life.

WAR IN THE SMARTPHONE AGE

Conflict, Connectivity and the Crises at Our Fingertips

MATTHEW FORD

- What does it mean for the future of war to have tech at our fingertips?
- What happens when civilian communication merges with military targeting?
- The first war studies book to focus specifically on the issue of the smartphone

An essential guide to understanding war and information on today's data-saturated battlefields — from Ukraine to Gaza and beyond.

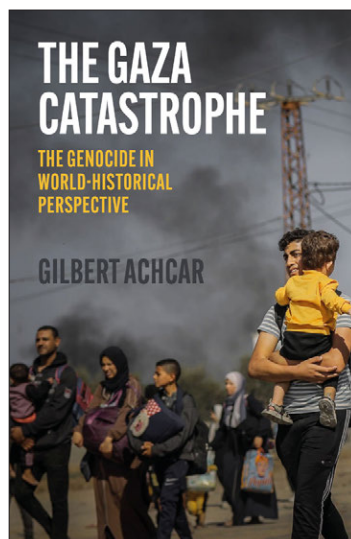

Thanks to smartphones, war is everywhere, all the time. Anyone can view, analyse and comment on photos, videos or other warzone media, far from the frontlines. Where did this technology come from? And what does it mean for the future of war?

This book explains why you see what you do on your phone. It asks how these devices shape our knowledge, conduct and representation of war in the 2020s. It shows why the smartphone is indispensable in peace and wartime, with a profound impact on modern conflict. Every smartphone is a potential weapon: lines blur between war and daily life, and conflict becomes a shared digital experience. Global tech giants orchestrate connectivity, displacing state-controlled narratives.

THE GAZA CATASTROPHE

The Genocide in World-Historical Perspective

GILBERT ACHCAR

- Vital and urgent analysis of the roots of the Gaza genocide by one of the world's leading political scientists
- Provides incisive and critical insights on the Israel-Palestine conflict, Hamas, Zionism and the role of regional powers
- Includes a powerful dissection of the Trump administration's intervention
- Highly readable, timely and accessible account for anyone interested in current affairs as well as specialists

The destruction that has been rained on Gaza has been seen and accepted by many commentators as a vengeful overreaction to the reckless Hamas-led attack on 7 October 2023. As if the annihilation has come about, perhaps even by accident. This book argues that the new catastrophe that has befallen the Palestinian people is in fact the culmination of a decades-long pattern that runs parallel with Israel's inexorable shift to the Right.

The lethal and destructive consequences of the Gaza catastrophe are far greater than the Nakba of 1948. The significance of a war waged by an advanced military-industrial state with full US participation and open support from the West irredeemably exposes the double standard intrinsic to the Atlanticist pretence of a liberal 'rules-based international order'.

ONO-ISMS

YOKO ONO, EDITED BY LARRY WARSH

- A powerful collection of quotations from iconic artist and activist Yoko Ono

Ono-isms is a collection of provocative and powerful quotations from influential artist, musician, songwriter, and peace activist Yoko Ono, providing a richer understanding of this important cultural icon. Since emerging on the international art scene in the early 1960s, Ono has made profound contributions to visual and performance art, filmmaking, and music in work that often radically questions the division between art and the everyday. In recent years she has embraced social media to communicate her artistic and activist messages to even broader audiences around the world.

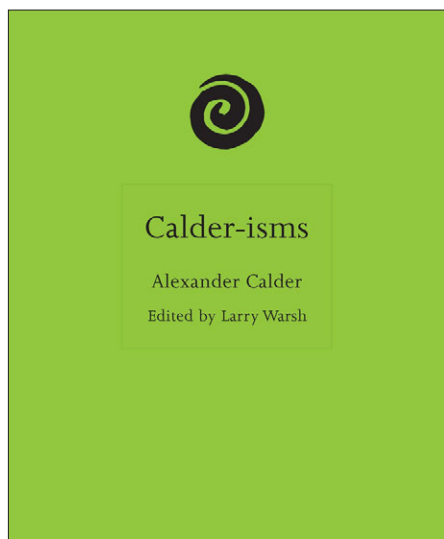

Gathered from interviews, books, song lyrics, social media, and other sources, this nuanced book sheds new light on a complex and multifaceted artist who has shaped our culture in countless ways. The quotations close to 300 in all are arranged by subject: art, life, creativity, nature and the environment, love, music, women in society, and peace and social justice. The book also features an introduction and a chronology of Ono's life and work.

'I've never seen a line between music and art and performance. And that's a problem for some people.'

'I think that all women are witches, in the sense that a witch is a magical being. And a wizard, which is a male version of a witch, is kind of revered, and people respect wizards. But a witch, my god, we have to burn them.'

CALDER-ISMS

ALEXANDER CALDER, EDITED BY LARRY WARSH

- A dazzling collection of quotations from the modern American artist whose mobiles are beloved worldwide

Calder-isms is a collection of fascinating, irreverent, and often profound quotations from the influential modern American sculptor Alexander Calder (1898–1976), who is most famous for his invention of what his friend Marcel Duchamp dubbed the ‘mobile’. Often suspended from ceilings, these sculptures feature abstract elements, frequently painted in bold colours, that move and balance in changing harmony. Calder’s art was dynamic, unconventional, and filled with vitality qualities also displayed by his words, which combine the wisdom of a philosopher with the ingenuity of a true original. Taken from interviews, writings, and other sources, the quotations in Calder-isms offer memorable insights into Calder’s life, mind, and, above all, art.

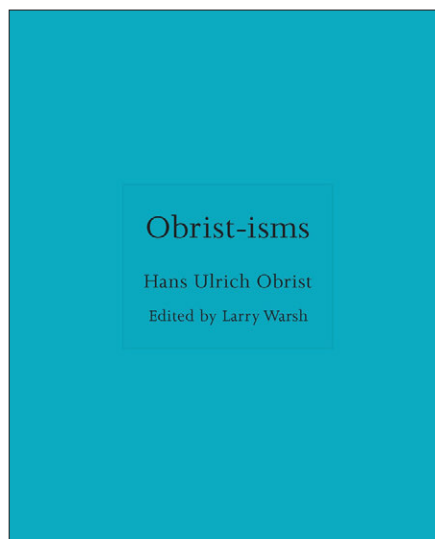

‘That visit to Mondrian gave me the shock that converted me. It was like the baby being slapped to make his lungs start working.’

‘[A mobile] has no utility and no meaning. It is simply beautiful. It has a great emotional effect if you understand it. Of course if it meant anything it would be easier to understand, but it would not be worthwhile.’

‘A title is just like the license plate on the back of a car. You use it to say which one you’re talking about.’

OBRIST-ISMS

HANS ULRICH OBRIST, EDITED BY LARRY WARSH

- A thought-provoking collection of quotations from one of the most influential figures in the contemporary art world

Hans Ulrich Obrist is one of the most celebrated curators working today and has twice been ranked #1 on ArtReview’s annual list of the most important people in the art world. As the primary or lead author of more than forty volumes of interviews with contemporary artists, of numerous exhibition catalogues for museums around the world, and of influential books on curation, he has established himself as a pivotal figure in contemporary art and culture. Drawn from Obrist’s writings, interviews, and other sources, Obrist-isms gathers a wealth of fascinating quotations from across his career, offering insights on everything from his approach to curating and his affinity with philosopher Édouard Glissant to his interest in artists’ unrealised projects.

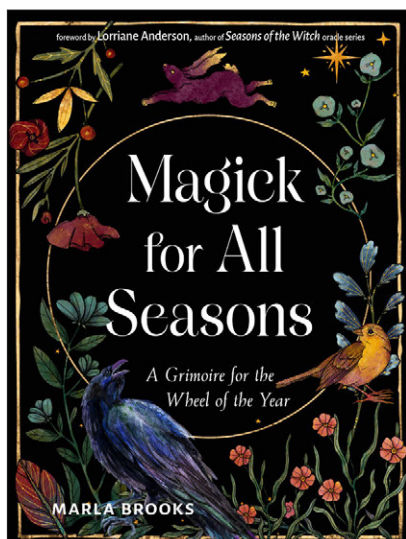

Obrist-isms is organised into seven thematic sections: Early Years; Curating and Exhibitions; Artists and Conversations; Archiving, Collecting, and Unrealised Projects; Édouard Glissant and Mondialité; On Sleep and Time; Art and the Environment; and Technology and the Future of Art. The book also features an introduction and a brief chronology of Obrist’s life and career.

‘Art is the highest form of hope.’

‘The motor, the engine, is curiosity. Curating is connected to curiosity.’

MAGICK FOR ALL SEASONS

A Grimoire for the Wheel of the Year

MARLA BROOKS, FOREWORD BY LORRIANE ANDERSON

- Topic-driven, Wheel of the Year books have been met with popularity
- Filled with spells, activities, recipes, and crafts for year-round use
- Wheel begins at Samhain

Spells for all seasons and all reasons.

Explore the seasons of the witch by way of magical spells and practices for each turn of the Wheel of the Year. Offering a fresh approach to a lifestyle that focuses on mind, body, and spirit in the nature-based way that our ancestors practiced throughout the ages,

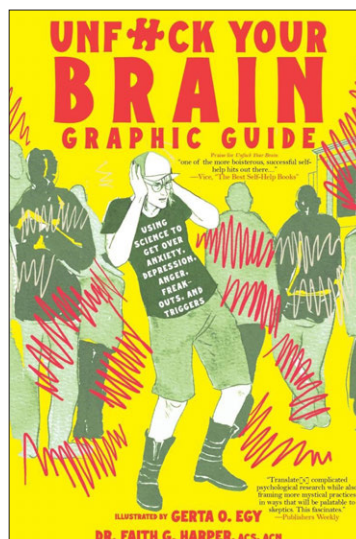

Magick for All Seasons features over one hundred magic spells and incantations.

Brooks has divided this book into two parts. The first being the seasons, exploring the eight Wiccan and Pagan sabbats that comprise the traditional Wheel of the Year, beginning with Samhain. Each sabbat is detailed with information on the symbolism, activities, tools, incense, and gemstones used, along with specific workings.

The second part comprises a grimoire of spells for daily use. Included are exercises, crafts, and recipes to incorporate magic into daily life.

ALEXANDER THE GREAT

Lives and Legacies

STEPHEN HARRISON

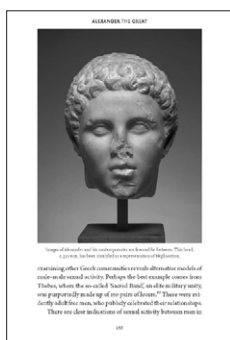

- A nuanced discussion of Alexander the Great's life, personality, achievements and impact

An evenhanded reimagining of the Greek conqueror's life.

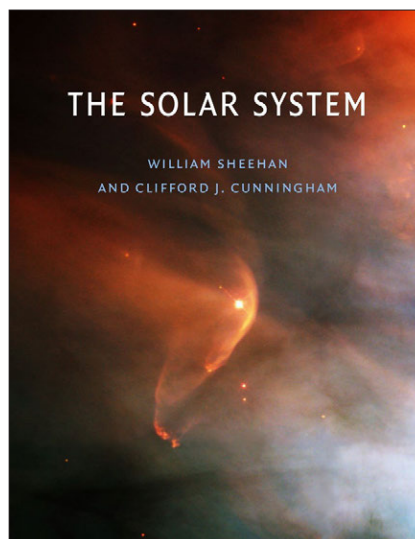

This book offers a fresh perspective on the reign of Alexander the Great. It re-examines Alexander's military victories and personality, while also exploring the impact of his campaigns on the people he conquered.

Alexander's story, Stephen Harrison argues, is one that includes the vital roles that other gures played in historical events. By considering the social and intellectual currents of the last two decades, Harrison highlights how changing contemporary experiences shape historical interpretations. Moving beyond polarised debates about Alexander, he provides a nuanced discussion of Alexander's achievements and impact.

The book presents an Alexander for the twenty-first century, offering new insights into how and why historical interpretations of him have changed.

THE HAPPINESS FILES

Insights on Work and Life by Arthur C. Brooks
ARTHUR C. BROOKS

- Sharp observations and current behavioural science research on happiness
- Chapters helpfully grouped by theme: On Managing Yourself; On Building Your Career; On Balancing Work, Life, and Relationships; and more

Harvard professor and bestselling author Arthur C. Brooks offers science-based insights on work and life in this curated collection from his 'How to Build a Life' column in The Atlantic.

Imagine if your life were a startup. How would you lead it and shape it to be most successful?

That's the question behind The Happiness Files, a rich selection of enlightening and instructive essays by Arthur C. Brooks, known worldwide for his inspiring yet practical wisdom and advice in his weekly column for The Atlantic and in his bestselling books, From Strength to Strength and Build the Life You Want (coauthored with Oprah Winfrey).

The simple answer, as Brooks wisely explains, is to manage your life in a way that leads to truly valuable rewards: love, enjoyment, satisfaction, and meaning in other words, happiness.

DON'T BE YOURSELF

Why Authenticity Is Overrated (and What to Do Instead)

TOMAS CHAMORRO-PREMUZIC

- A counterintuitive and science-backed look at how the drive to be 'authentic' is holding us back
- The book offers a provocative challenge to the widely accepted idea of 'being true to yourself'
- The topic of authenticity resonates broadly, as it's an issue we all grapple with in our personal and professional lives. The book's insights will likely resonate with a wide audience
- Tomas devotes significant attention to how authenticity plays out in the workplace, including dedicated chapters on leadership and diversity/inclusion. The book demonstrates how authenticity and work performance are deeply intertwined

The surprising science of why being authentic holds you back from the author of Why Do So Many Incompetent Men Become Leaders? (and How to Fix It).

'Just be yourself' might be the worst advice you've ever received. For years, we've been told that authenticity is the key to success that we should be true to ourselves, tune out others' opinions, and lead with unwavering genuineness. This feel-good message has spawned countless self-help books, leadership seminars, and viral social media posts.

THE SALT STONES

A Shepherd's World, a Shepherd's Mind
HELEN WHYBROW

- For fans of Margaret Renkl's The Comfort of Crows, Barbara Kingsolver's Animal Vegetable, Miracle, Iliana Regan's Fieldwork, and Pam Houston's Deep Creek: A moving reflection on our symbiotic relationships with all species, inspiring readers to seek greater intimacy, awareness, and engagement within all of nature's complexity
- Tremendously appealing to anyone engaged with sustainable living, farm-to-table, homesteading, land conservancy, and, of course, animal lovers
- A profoundly moving meditation on the lessons and wisdom that come from raising a family, tending sheep, and living close to the land: A work that inspires a more meaningful way to connect with the natural world, family, community, creatures in our care, and home

An Esquire 'Best Books of Summer 2025'

In the heart of Vermont's Green Mountains, Helen Whybrow and her partner set out to restore an old two-hundred-acre farm. Knowing that 'belonging more than anything requires participation', they begin to intertwine their lives with the land. But soon after releasing a flock of Icelandic sheep onto the worn-out fields, Whybrow realises that the art of shepherding extends far beyond the flock and fences of Knoll Farm.

EAVESDROPPING ON ANIMALS

What We Can Learn From Wildlife Conversations

GEORGE BUMANN, FOREWORD BY JON YOUNG

- For readers of An Immense World by Ed Yong, The Lost Art of Reading Nature's Signs by Tristan Gooley, and The Hidden Life of Trees and Forest Walking by Peter Wohlleben
- Lovers of Yellowstone (the show and the park!) will adore this book which shares the author's best and most fascinating stories from leading animal intelligence guides in the famous park
- Anyone can benefit from this book, no matter if you live in a city or the country, making it a great gift for anyone on your list

Learn how to decode the secret conversations of wild animals all around you. From a Yellowstone naturalist and renowned expert in animal language comes 'an engaging guide to a world of wonders hiding in plain sight.' (Peter Wohlleben, New York Times bestselling author of The Hidden Life of Trees).

Humans once relied on the calls of wild animals to understand the natural world and their place within it. Now, this remarkable guide reveals what our ancestors knew long ago that tuning in to the owl in the tree, the deer in the gully, can tell us important information and help us feel connected to our wild community.

THE BIRD SINGERS

How Two Boys Discovered the Magic of Birdsong

JEAN BOUCAULT, JOHNNY RASSE,
TRANSLATED BY KATIA GRUBISIC

- Bird Calling (and Identifying Bird Calls) Is a Major Trend: Millions of people are listening to bird calls every day; online courses, apps, YouTube and TikTok tutorials for identifying bird calls have exploded in popularity in recent years
- Unique, evocative, and cinematic, The Bird Singers is the story of an unlikely friendship, sparked by a desire to speak with the avian world

This captivating book brings together two birds of a feather: Jean and Johnny, boys from very different worlds growing up in a small village in France. Jean is the genteel pharmacist's son, dressed in his Sunday best; Johnny's father is a rough, working-class sheep herder, always with the odor of animals clinging to him. Each year, over three hundred bird species visit their village, which intersects a major migratory flyway. The two boys' stories converge when Jean enters a bird-calling contest. He places second, and at only eleven years old becomes a child celebrity on the bird-calling circuit.

This is a story as much about friendship as it is about birdsong. The setting is timeless and bucolic, with long walks to small village schools, games of pick-up soccer, and father-son birding trips.

THE AFTERGLOW OF INDUSTRY

New Zealand Photographs 2012-2022

CHRIS CORSON-SCOTT, TEXT BY CHRISTINA BARTON

- Writing and photographs targeted to the cross-cultural connections between New Zealand, the USA, and the United Kingdom
- Examining colonial and early photography, industrial, and architecture. Highlighting the influence of late-capitalism on New Zealand's built environment and its lasting effects on the landscape
- Large format colour photographs

The Afterglow of Industry brings together photographs from a ten-year project in which artist Chris Corson-Scott repeatedly travelled the extent of Aotearoa New Zealand, seeking out unknown, or remote sites which illuminate our dysfunctional present. Following this, several years were spent researching and writing on each of the 79 photographs featured in this book.

In these texts, colonial and industrial histories weave in and out of geology, pre-European Māori history, outside forces from the United States and Europe, and contemporary issues like privatisation, asset sales, the New Zealand housing crisis, and the country's rebranding as a 'clean & green' tourist destination. Similar to the collapse of America's industrial Midwest, New Zealand has also experienced the whiplash of industry vanishing. Here though, this has been complicated by much of this industry first emerging in conjunction with European colonisation.

SEA OF ISLANDS

Exploring Objects, Stories and Memories from Oceania

CAROL E. MAYER, FOREWORD BY RALPH REGENVANU, PREFACE BY SUSAN ROWLEY

- The Museum of Anthropology (MOA) at UBC is the only Canadian museum with established ongoing relationships with cultural centres, museums, community leaders and artists throughout the Pacific
- Objects with recorded stories and journeys have been selected in consultation with Indigenous scholars working in museums and cultural centres across the Pacific, with knowledge holders and artists in source communities, and with members of diaspora (Pacific Islanders living away from their homeland). Foreword by Ralph Regenvanu, the Vanuatuan Minister of Environment

The Museum of Anthropology at the University of British Columbia holds some 3,500 objects from Oceania, making it the largest and most diverse collection from this region in Canada. From regalia and jewellery to barkcloths and woven mats to carvings and canoes, all these items have travelled, sometimes circuitously, from their homelands including Aotearoa, Australia, the Torres Strait Islands, Fiji, Papua New Guinea, the Solomon Islands, Rapa Nui, the Marquesas Islands, and Vanuatu to the west coast of Canada. Sea of Islands traces the journeys and stories of these holdings, as shared by knowledge holders, scholars, and artists from across the Pacific.

COSMIC KINDNESS ORACLE DECK

A 60-Card Deck for Friendship, Fun, and Big Feelings

MICHELLE ROMO

- As tarot and oracle surge in popularity among adults, there has been a need for kid-friendly decks
- Michelle Romo has worked with major brands, including FAO Schwartz, Loungefly, and JapanLA. Her unique twist on the oracle system will be thoroughly vetted by Mary Ruth Cross, MS, MFT, NCC, RPT-S, a counselor and child development specialist who has used oracle decks to work with her kid patients
- This deck will be completely illustrated and designed throughout with Romo's award-winning (and adorable!) art. Packaged in a sturdy box with a magnetic closure, it makes for a great gift or an addition to a growing collection

Oracle decks are perfect for telling stories, and reading cards can help kids and their parents speak to how they feel, what's going on in their lives, and the exciting things that might be coming in the future. Cards can be reminders to be kind, serve as gentle prompts for speaking about tough topics, or they can even just be fun conversation starters particularly when they're decorated with artist Michelle Romo's signature vibrant illustrations.

RICHARD MISRACH: CARGO

PHOTOGRAPHS BY RICHARD MISRACH, TEXT BY REBECCA SOLNIT, DESIGNED BY MASUMI SHIBATA

- The latest book from an acclaimed pioneer of colour photography
- A timely meditation on our relationship to shipping and consumerism
- Lush, atmospheric, and vivid seascapes of the California coast

Eerie, sparse, and undeniably beautiful, Richard Misrach's images offer a timely meditation on the profound impact of global trade on the environment.

Richard Misrach: Cargo presents the acclaimed photographer's sublime meditation on the often-unseen patterns of global trade and commerce. In 2021, on the heels of the COVID-19 pandemic, which, at its height, seemed to nearly halt the networks of international trade, Misrach began taking thousands of photographs of cargo ships as they moved to and from the Port of Oakland, California. In these monumental seascapes, cargo ships appear frozen in time diminutive but stalwart within an expansive, richly coloured confluence of sea, sky, and atmosphere.

CHINESE PROPAGANDA AND AUSTRALIA

A case study of the 1930s and 1940s

BOLIN HU

- Provides a detailed and nuanced exploration of Chinese wartime propaganda efforts in Australia, a topic that has received little attention in historical scholarship
- Offers new evidence and perspectives on the Sino-Australian relationship, challenging traditional narratives and highlighting the interplay of political, racial and class dynamics

In the turbulent years of China's War of Resistance against Japan (1931–1945), a unique and complex narrative unfolded far from the battlefields in Australia. Chinese Propaganda and Australia: A case study of the 1930s and 1940s delves into the intricate web of Chinese wartime propaganda efforts, revealing how the Chinese Kuomintang (KMT) and Chinese Australian communities mobilised support for China's struggle against Japanese aggression.

GAZA IN MY PHONE

MAZEN KERBAJ

- Gaza in My Phone* presents the powerful art of Lebanese cartoonist Mazen Kerbaj, drawn in response to social media images of Israel's genocidal campaign in Gaza
- In an age where we watch atrocities unfold on our phones, Gaza in My Phone offers a way to process what's happening. Kerbaj's stark, black-and-white illustrations provide an immediate yet thoughtful response to the violence, helping readers both reflect on and express their solidarity with Palestine

Gaza is the first genocide to be captured in real-time images on devices we hold in our hands. Two days after October 7, the Lebanese comic artist Mazen Kerbaj began drawing in reaction to what was appearing in his phone. This powerful and original book brings together that work. Mazen draws in part to bear witness and raise awareness, but also as a coping mechanism, to remain sane amid the unfolding madness. His straight-to-the-point, high-contrast black-and-white art is accompanied by striking slogans and captions.

TRIUMPH AND DESPAIR

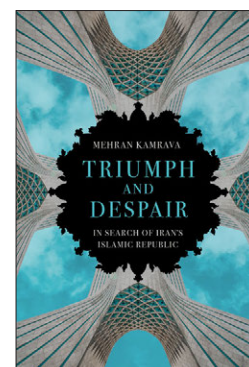

In Search of Iran's Islamic Republic

MEHRAN KAMRAVA

'Kamrava offers a glimmer of hope that transcends the intolerance of a myopic regime.' – Geographical Magazine

- Triumph and Despair* tells the dramatic story of post-revolutionary Iran's first four decades, from its establishment in 1979 until today

The revolutionary coalition that overthrew the monarchy was at once democratic, populist and Islamic. The Islamists, and the Khomeinists in particular, were able to capitalise effectively on prevailing conditions on the ground; to frame the new republic's constitution, capture nascent institutions, and consolidate their power by eliminating opponents through a reign of terror. Once the war with Iraq was over and after the death of the new order's charismatic founder, Ayatollah Khomeini, the Islamic Republic was consolidated: first by tweaking its institutional arrangements, and then by fostering economic development and post-war reconstruction. A reformist interlude then followed, reversed unceremoniously by a return of populism and a broader authoritarian retrenchment.

DREAMING DOWN THE TRACK

Awakenings in Aboriginal Cinema

WILLIAM LEMPert

- What can Aboriginal filmmaking reveal about Indigenous presence and futures?

The product of years of embedded fieldwork within Indigenous film crews in Northwestern Australia, Dreaming Down the Track delves deeply into Aboriginal cinema as a transformative community process. It follows the social lives of projects throughout their production cycles, from planning and editing to screening, broadcasting, and after-images. Across its narrative sweep, this ethnography engages the film career of Kukatja elder Mark Moora to demonstrate the impact of filmmaking on how Aboriginal futures are collectively imagined and called forth. William Lempert highlights a series of awakenings through which Moora ultimately came to view cinema as a process for catalysing his family's return to their home country of Mangkayi.

CINEMAL

The Becoming-Animal of Experimental Film

TESSA LAIRD

- A foray through the wilds where experimental films and animals collide

Like the flash of a tropical bird's iridescent wing, cinema can be furtive and intensely beautiful – and it can leave a viewer craving more. Cinemat is Tessa Laird's passionate inquiry into the ways that films mimic the majesty, mystery, and movements of animals, her field notes from countless hair-raising encounters with films in their natural habitat.

Part of a growing focus on nonhuman animals in film, Cinemat ventures to the 'furry underbelly' of global experimental film practice, focusing on films from New Zealand, Australia, and South America. Laird examines how animals are depicted in film and analyses the various animal qualities of cinema, like scratching and sniffing, vibrant colours, and voices (barking, howling, or echolocation).

THE WHITE POSSESSIVE

Property, Power, and Indigenous Sovereignty

AILEEN MORETON-ROBINSON

- How whiteness operationalises race to colonise and displace Indigenous sovereignty

The White Possessive explores the links between race, sovereignty, and possession through themes of property: owning property, being property, and becoming propertyless. Focusing on the Australian Aboriginal context, Aileen Moreton-Robinson questions current race theory in the first world and its preoccupation with foregrounding slavery and migration. The nation, she argues, is socially and culturally constructed as a white possession. Moreton-Robinson reveals how the core values of Australian national identity continue to have their roots in Britishness and colonisation, built on the disavowal of Indigenous sovereignty.

KREE

A Post-Exotic Novel

MANUELA DRAEGER, TRANSLATED BY LIA SWOPE MITCHELL

- A post-apocalyptic tale of a young woman martial artist, Kree Toronto, who is seeking revenge for the death of her dog at the hands of totalitarian monks
- Kree is a warrior in a post-apocalypse, post-human, post-death world, whose wanderings through a series of existences leads her to a temporary peace in the totalitarian city of the terrible mendicants

A warrior struggles through an apocalyptic landscape and the world after death

Kree has been raised as a fearless fighter in a ravaged world: postapocalyptic, posthuman, the population decimated by wars and civilisation long since collapsed. After her attempt to avenge the death of her dog, Loka, goes horribly wrong, Kree finds herself lost in a world after death and wanders into the city of the terrible mendicants.

GODZILLA AND GODZILLA RAIDS AGAIN

SHIGERU KAYAMA, TRANSLATED BY JEFFREY ANGLES

- The first English translations of Japanese science fiction author Shigeru Kayama's novels Godzilla and its sequel Godzilla Raids Again that were published in conjunction with the first two films in the now-iconic monster series from Tōhō Studios
- Gives an account of the origins of Godzilla, one of Japan's most famous cultural exports

Godzilla emerged from the sea to devastate Tokyo in the now-classic 1954 film, produced by Tōhō Studios and directed by Ishirō Honda, creating a global sensation and launching one of the world's most successful movie and media franchises. Awakened and transformed by nuclear weapons testing, Godzilla serves as a terrifying metaphor for humanity's shortsighted destructiveness: this was the intent of Shigeru Kayama, the science fiction writer who drafted the 1954 original film and its first sequel and, in 1955, published these novellas.

THE FORBIDDEN WORLDS OF HARUKI MURAKAMI

MATTHEW CARL STRECHER

- The Forbidden Worlds of Haruki Murakami charts the writer's vivid 'inner world,' whether unconscious or underworld (what some Japanese critics call achiragawa, or 'over there'), and its connectivity to language

In an 'other world' composed of language – it could be a fathomless Martian well, a labyrinthine hotel or forest – a narrative unfolds, and with it the experiences, memories, and dreams that constitute reality for Haruki Murakami's characters and readers alike. Memories and dreams in turn conjure their magical counterparts – people without names or pasts, fantastic animals, half-animals, and talking machines that traverse the dark psychic underworld of this writer's extraordinary fiction. Fervently acclaimed worldwide, Haruki Murakami's wildly imaginative work in many ways remains a mystery, its worlds within worlds uncharted territory. Finally in The Forbidden Worlds of Haruki Murakami readers will find a map to the strange realm that grounds virtually every aspect of Murakami's writing, exposing the psychological and mythological underpinnings of this other world.

THE UFO BOOK

A Chronological Journey from Crop Circles to Roswell

JOHN MICHAEL GREER

- A vibrant illustrated cover will be embossed with foil, creating a giftable object for anyone interested in extraterrestrials. Over one hundred fascinating photos will add interest to the author's well-researched essays

For thousands of years people have seen strange lights and hovering shapes in the sky. From an ancient awareness that there might be creatures beyond this world to very recent disclosures of alien activity at a governmental level, speculation about unidentified flying objects and the alien entities that might have traveled within them has animated humanity's relationship to the unknown. John Michael Greer, long-time researcher of the unexplained, chronicles 100 of the most fascinating brushes Earth's residents have had with visitors from the cosmos. Illustrated with full-colour photos and illustrations, The UFO Book includes Babylonian engravings, phantom airships of the 1890s, the 'foo fighters' of the Second World War, the Flatwoods Monster and Mothman: Greer weaves these together into a chronological survey of an evolving understanding of alien life.

LITTLE BEASTS

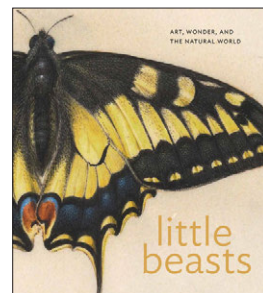

Art, Wonder, and the Natural World

EDITED BY ALEXANDRA LIBBY, BROOKS RICH, STACEY SELL,
CONTRIBUTIONS BY BRIAN W. OGILVIE

- A richly illustrated look at the intersection of art and science in Renaissance Europe

Art played a pivotal role in the development of natural history during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. European colonial expansion enabled naturalists to study previously unknown insects, animals, and other beestjes 'little beasts' from around the globe. Little Beasts explores how artists such as Joris Hoefnagel and Jan van Kessel helped deepen and spread knowledge of these creatures with highly detailed and playful works that inspired generations of printmakers, painters, decorative artists, and naturalists. This appealing book begins by mapping the origins of natural history as a discipline, showing how early illustrated treatises reflected a vibrant exchange between artists and naturalists that contributed to the growth of natural science and sparked public fascination with the animal kingdom.

FOREST EUPHORIA

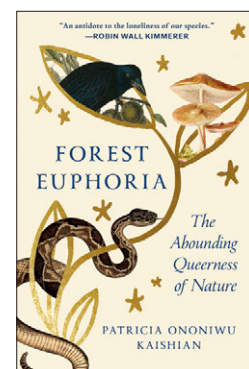

The Abounding Queerness of Nature

PATRICIA ONONIWU KAISHIAN

- The first book written for a trade audience to broadly survey the subject of queer ecology – a study of the natural world that focuses not only on sexuality within it but on the construction and deconstruction of its categories – Forest Euphoria will introduce fascinating information and concepts to general readers
- A thrilling book about the abounding queerness of the natural world that challenges our expectations of what is normal, beautiful, and possible

Growing up, Patricia Ononiwu Kaishian felt most at home in the swamps and culverts near her house in the Hudson Valley. A child who frequently felt out of place, too much of one thing or not enough of another, she found acceptance in these settings, among other amphibious beings. In snakes, snails, and, above all, fungi, she saw her own developing identities as a queer, neurodivergent person reflected back at her and in them, too, she found a personal path to a life of science.

THE MAN WHO ORGANIZED NATURE

The Life of Linnaeus

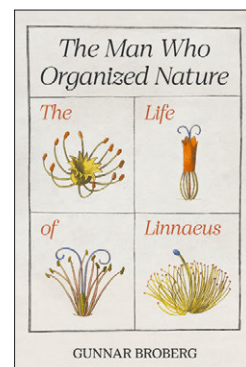

GUNNAR BROBERG, TRANSLATED BY ANNA PATERSON

- Now in paperback!
- A new biography of Carl Linnaeus, offering a vivid portrait of Linnaeus's life and work

Carl Linnaeus (1707-1778), known as the father of modern biological taxonomy, formalised and popularised the system of binomial nomenclature used to classify plants and animals. Linnaeus himself classified thousands of species; the simple and immediately recognisable abbreviation 'L' is used to mark classifications originally made by Linnaeus.

This biography, by the leading authority on Linnaeus, offers a vivid portrait of Linnaeus's life and work. Drawing on a wide range of previously unpublished sources including diaries and personal correspondence as well as new research, it presents revealing and original accounts of his family life, the political context in which he pursued his work, and his eccentric views on sexuality.

THE MINOANS

Lost Civilizations

ELLEN ADAMS

- An exploration of the Minoans, from cultural sophistication to enduring legacy

Bronze Age Crete is one of the most thoroughly explored archaeological regions, yet the island retains an air of mystery. This book offers an authoritative introduction to the world of the Minoans, the first 'modern' civilisation on European soil. With its grand palaces, a sophisticated bureaucracy complete with writing (including undeciphered scripts), exquisite artworks, powerful depictions of women and advanced urban engineering, this ancient civilisation was remarkably modern.

This readable account presents key features of Minoan archaeology architecture, art, religion, writing and bureaucracy, and the economy. It also explores how this pioneering European civilisation has influenced Western culture, examining its reconstruction and representation in museums.

LIFE'S DEVICES

The Physical World of Animals and Plants

STEVEN VOGEL, FOREWORD BY ROB DUNN

- An entertaining and informative book that explores how living things contend with nonbiological reality

Life on Earth is subject to the pull of gravity, the properties of air and water, and the behaviour of diffusing molecules, yet such physical factors are constraints that drive evolution and offer untold opportunities to creatures of all sizes. In this lively introduction to the science of biomechanics, Steven Vogel invites you to wonder about the design of the plants and animals around us.

You will learn why a fish swims more rapidly than a duck can paddle, why healthy trees more commonly uproot than break, how sharks manage with such flimsy skeletons, and why a mouse can easily survive a fall onto any surface from any height.

AWAKE!

William Blake and the Power of the Imagination

MARK VERNON

- A fresh and thoughtful take on William Blake, gleaned lessons for today's world from his works
- Considers Blake's artwork, poetry and other writings from the perspective of a philosopher and psychotherapist
- An accessible look at Blake, as much for his fans as for those new to his work

A new look at the life, works and enduring relevance of William Blake, a deeply spiritual and politically radical figure.

In the 200 years since Blake's death, the visionary artist, poet and writer has become a household name, often beloved. Yet many struggle to comprehend his kaleidoscopic ideas; how they speak to human longings and the challenges of living in anxious times.

THIS BOOK IS A KNIFE

Radical Working-Class Strategies in the Age of Climate Change

L. E. FOX

- This Book Is a Knife: Radical Working-Class Strategies in the Age of Climate Change* is the follow-up to L.E. Fox's first book, This Has Always Been a War: The Radicalization of a Working-Class Queer, a collection of powerful essays that critique capitalist patriarchy from the perspective of a queer radical

An incendiary anti-capitalist response to the devastating impact of climate change. Despite the naysayers, climate change is a fact. We know that global temperatures are rising, that weather patterns are changing, that forest fires, droughts, flooding, severe storms, and heat waves are the new normal. We know this planet is teetering on the edge of climate collapse, an apocalyptic event that threatens not only the future of human civilisation, but also the millions of other unique life forms on Earth.

TWO CHEERS FOR ANARCHISM

Six Easy Pieces on Autonomy, Dignity, and Meaningful Work and Play

JAMES C. SCOTT, FOREWORD BY TUN MYINT

- 'One of the world's most widely read social scientists' (New York Times) offers his most personal and accessible book – a celebration of how ordinary people can resist oppression and injustice

James Scott taught us what's wrong with seeing like a state. Now, in his most accessible and personal book to date, the acclaimed social scientist makes the case for seeing like an anarchist. Inspired by the core anarchist faith in the possibilities of voluntary cooperation without hierarchy, Two Cheers for Anarchism is an engaging, high-spirited, and often very funny defense of an anarchist way of seeing one that provides a unique and powerful perspective on everything from everyday social and political interactions to mass protests and revolutions.

LIBERATED THREADS

Stories of Black Style

EDITED BY TANISHA C. FORD

- Exploring fashion and style as a political language and tool of resistance in the African diaspora

Aperture's Summer issue highlights image makers around the world who are exploring style and fashion as a language of Black resistance, refusal, and joy. Guest edited by the writer and researcher Tanisha C. Ford and titled after her 2015 book, Liberated Threads, this edition features photographers, stylists, and filmmakers who remix, reimagine, and in some cases, reject the aesthetic and politics of what she calls the 'soul style' of the twentieth century sparking a bold conversation about style's ability to create possibilities for solidarity and selfhood today.

GLORIOUS FAILURE

The Forgotten History of French Imperialism in India
ROBERT IVERMEE

- A history of an often-overlooked era of French imperial history in India
- Covers the period from the reign of Louis XIV to the fall of Napoleon
- Analyses how French ideas of liberty and the rights of man were used in an imperial context to justify ventures of domination

From war with the British to the enslavement of Indians, Ivermee uncovers the dark history of France's doomed imperial project in South Asia.

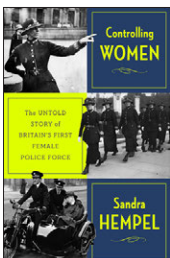

This is a powerful new account of a chapter in history that is crucial to understand, yet often overlooked. For 150 years, from the reign of Louis XIV to the downfall of Napoleon, France was an aggressive imperial power in South Asia, driven by the pursuit of greatness and riches.

THE ZAMBEZI

A History
MALYN NEWITT

- The Zambezi is the fourth-longest river in Africa and one of the continent's main routes of migration, conquest and commerce
- Traces the history of the peoples that have lived along this key African artery
- The author has written over twenty books on Portugal and Portuguese colonial history

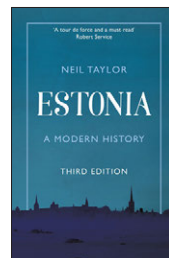

The Zambezi is the fourth-longest river in Africa, and one of the continent's principal arteries of movement, migration, conquest and commerce. In this book, historian Malyn Newitt quotes rarely used Portuguese sources that throw vivid light on the culture of the river peoples and their relations with the Portuguese creole society of the prazos. Hitherto unused manuscript material illustrates Portuguese and British colonial rule over the people of the long-lived Lunda kingdoms, and the Lozi of the Barotse Floodplain.

'OUR LITTLE GANG'

The Lives of the Vorticists

JAMES KING

- Through text and full-colour illustrations, uncovers the lives and times of the unruly Vorticists, whose innovative abstract artworks shattered early twentieth-century conventions

The Vorticists, a rebellious cohort of young artists in early twentieth-century England, defied the conventions of the art world with their distinctive abstract creations. Despite the brevity of their existence, from 1911 to 1914, their startling innovations left an indelible mark on English art history. In this book James King explores the personalities and lives of these colourful individuals, capturing the tumultuous environment in which they thrived. The narrative presents biographies of the group's members 'our little gang', as Ezra Pound called them highlighting personal conflicts and providing a concise, highly readable history of the movement.

SPAM

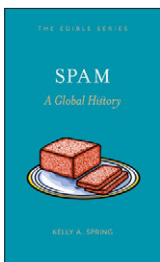

A Global History
KELLY A. SPRING

- SPAM's enduring global impact, from wartime necessity to cultural icon and beyond

A cultural history of the celebrated (and derided) canned protein.

2025 marks the 80th anniversary of the end of World War II, a conflict that solidified SPAM's place in global food culture. Created by Hormel Foods in 1937 to utilise surplus pork during the Great Depression, SPAM became an essential resource (and marker of American food culture) during the war.

This book explores SPAM's complex history, highlighting its enduring legacy in places like Hawaii, Guam, the Philippines, Okinawa, and South Korea. Kelly A. Spring demonstrates how the enduring proteins in SPAM played a crucial role during wartime and continues to influence global diets.

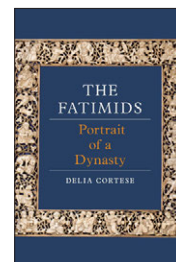

THE FATIMIDS

Portrait of a Dynasty
DELIA CORTESE

- Brings to life the Fatimids, one of the most significant and intriguing Islamic dynasties

A concise history of the enormously powerful and influential Shi'i caliphate.

The Fatimids (909-1171), one of the most significant and intriguing Islamic dynasties, built an empire that included North Africa, Egypt and parts of Sicily, Syria, Palestine and Arabia. Theirs is the only Muslim dynasty known by a female's name, Fatima, the Prophet Muhammad's daughter. The Fatimids promoted women to unprecedented positions of authority and visibility in Islamic history. From Cairo which they founded in 969 this Shi'i dynasty fostered cultural and artistic excellence as well as overall tolerance and prosperity across the empire. By blending historical and material sources, personalities and events that defined the Fatimid era are brought to life in this book.

Sport is a story telling machine. When we watch a game, race or competition, there are all the makings of a great tale. There are heroes and villains. There are challenges to overcome. There is a sense of jeopardy and risk. There is triumph and failure, comedy and tragedy. All these elements unfold within the time limit set for a sporting competition. Each game provides an opportunity for adventure, either as a spectator or player.

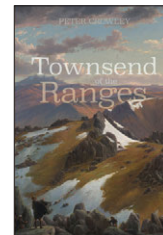

This capacity to generate a compelling story has helped make sport a national obsession for Australians. Sporting heroes are elevated beyond everyday life.

This publication celebrates and commemorates this significant anniversary. Launched to coincide with a major exhibition of Smart's work at the National Gallery of Australia, it is a book to be treasured in its own right. With a career spanning more than seven decades, Smart has made an impact on generations of artists and art lovers. Jeffrey Smart draws together a diverse range of voices including curators, art historians, artists, and those who knew the artist personally, to respond to his work and reflect on his legacy.
